We will present the course and our project results in the GNOME Conference held in Thessaloniki, Greece on August 23-28!

Join us here: <https://2019.guadec.org/>

The European Digital Learning Network has presented the first project results to representatives of the target group during its event held the last 12 June in Turin! Participants welcomed the commitment showed towards FOSS solutions and open standards, expressing positive impressions about the training course and the ECVET FOSS Business Users competence profile. The contacts collected during the event showed high motivation to participate further in the project and give their contribution, by testing the upcoming final version of the course in its different usage scenarios!

Stay tuned, more updates are coming!

OpenForum Europe is hard at work on developing Policy Recommendations for the project. The Policy Recommendation Report is an integral part of the FOSS4SMEs project without which the FOSS4SMEs project's impact will be severely restricted. It's contents will be designed to support the exploitation of the project results. This means the uptake of the course itself in SMEs, supporting the re-usage of the course and/or its parts and support the European policy environment for FOSS usage by SMEs.

The FOSS4SMEs consortium invites you to Brussels on 25 September to explore these and more questions with our distinguished panel from academia, SMEs and Open Source. Visit our
